Frequently Asked Questions:

What does professional mean?

Applicants must be a professional dance practitioner (dancer, choreographer, director). A professional practitioner must have a commitment to arts/cultural work as a major aspect of their working life, even if this work is not the main source of their income. The term professional is intended to indicate a degree of training, experience or manner of working that allows their work to be assessed against the highest practice and standards in their relevant artform/discipline.

Can I devise my own professional development program?

Yes – include a timetable and organise where you would like your program to take place. An example: A choreographer wanting to explore work in a new setting, might want to apply for a paid secondment within a different artform or context e.g. a gallery, film company, theatre company, digital design company, gaming company, or international company.

What can I spend my budget on?

Anything that supports your project. You can spend your budget on: fees (yourself and mentor), travel (including international travel), accommodation, training; e.g. master classes; dance/choreography or courses: business, film editing, website design, etc.
